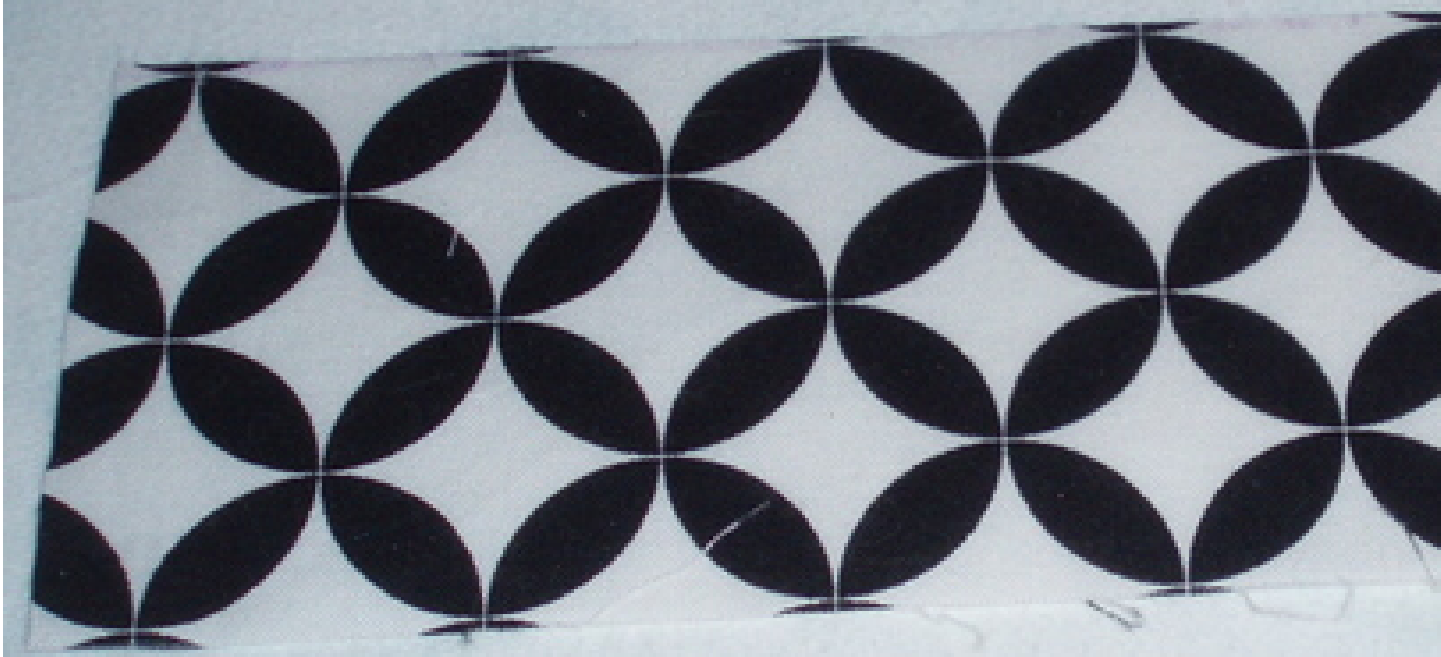
Here’s my first How-To on a project I didn’t even need ;) For those of you yearning for curly hair (like my cousins!), take the little time needed to create these awesome curlers! I credit lifewithmonkey over at wordpress.com for the original, but I have made my own version. Enjoy!

Materials

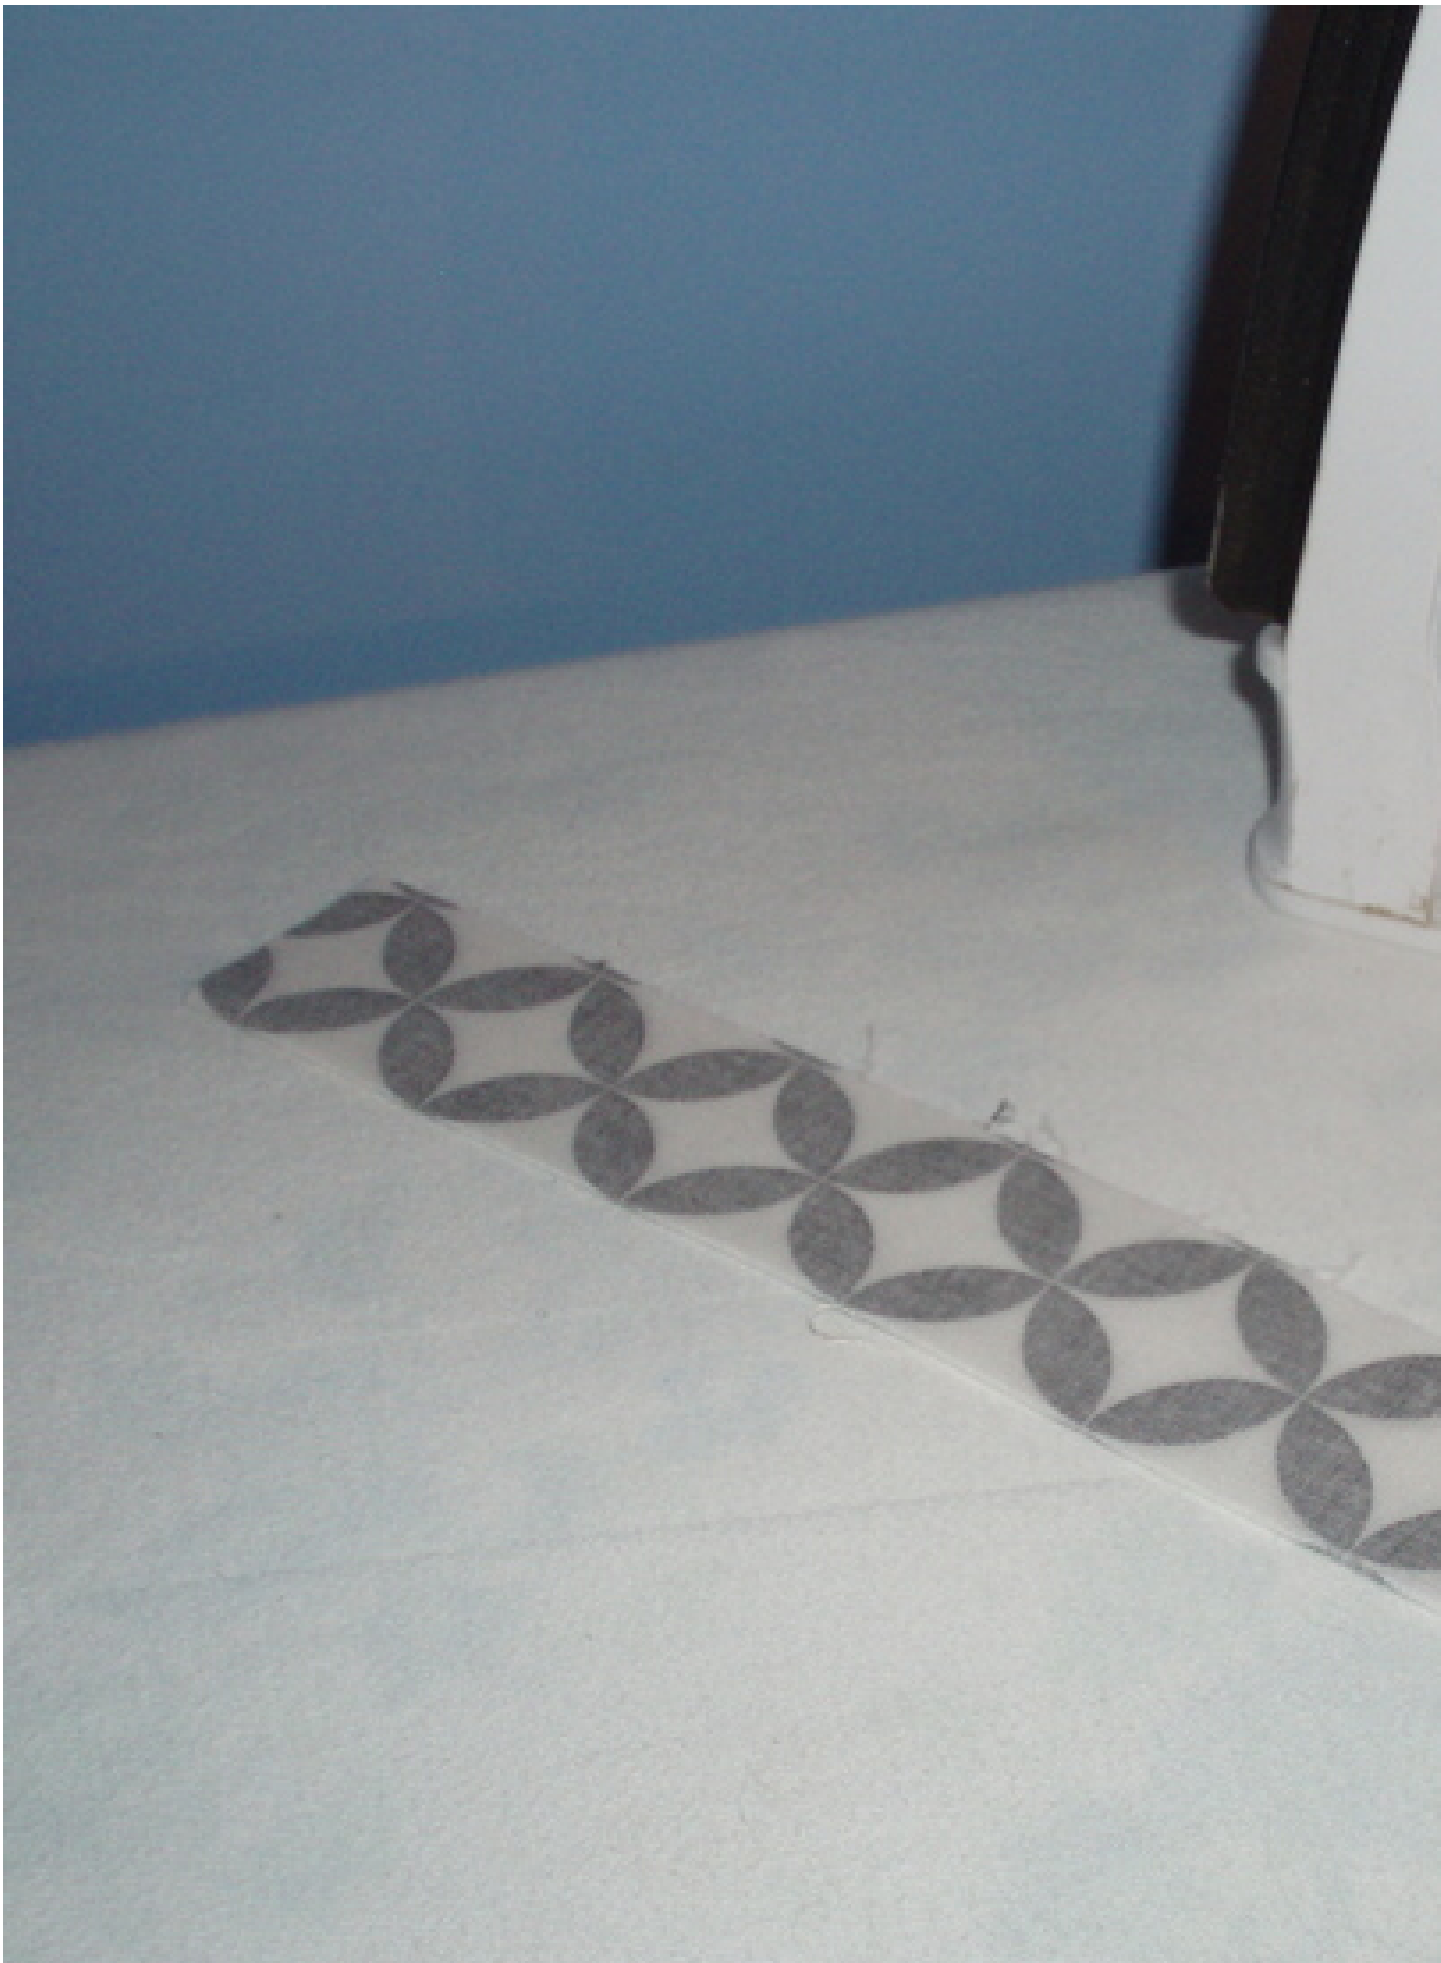
fabric scraps, thread, buttons, poly-fill

Step 1



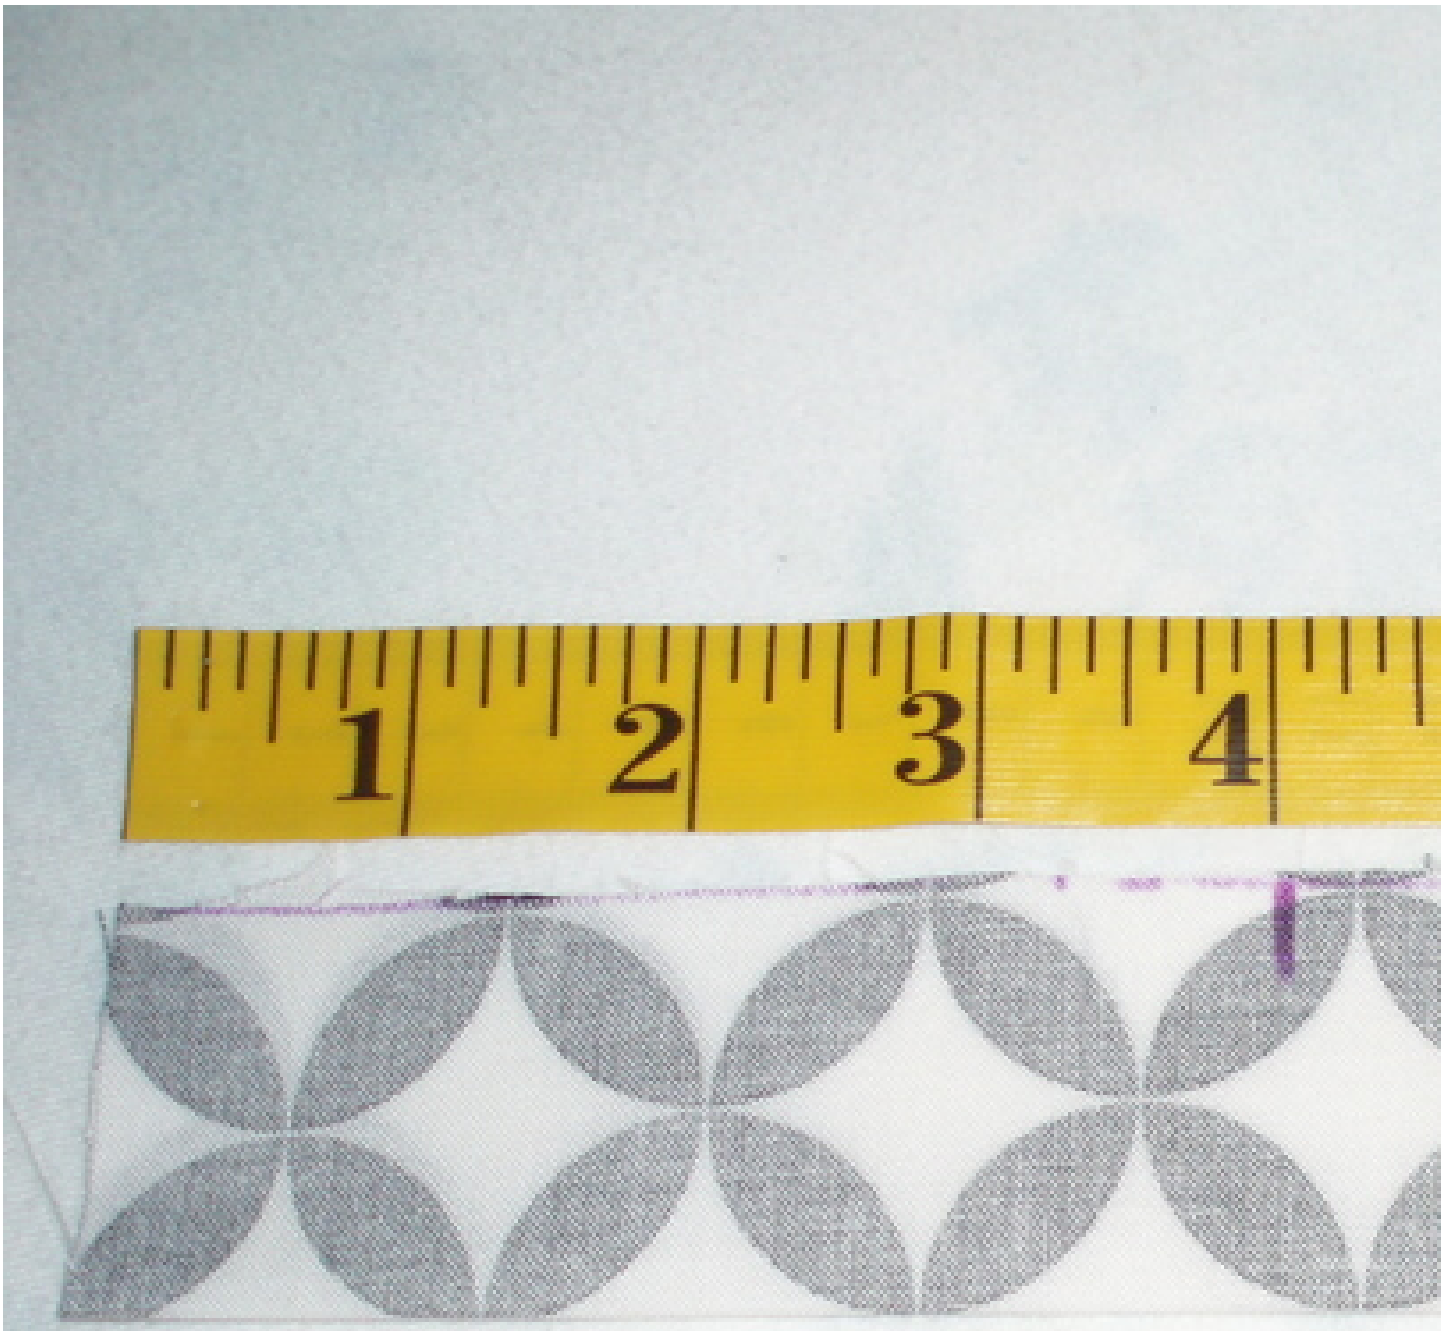
Cut from your fabric scrap a 3" by 9" rectangle. The width can be between 2 and 4 inches, depending on how large you want your curlers to be. You can also make a range of sizes for a more natural look.

Step 2



Fold it right sides together in half, lengthwise, and iron.

Step 3



1
2
3
4

Make a mark at 4".

Step 4

Sew along the line at 1/4", don’t forget to back-tack!

Step 5

Cut the corner at an angle.

Step 6

Turn it inside out.

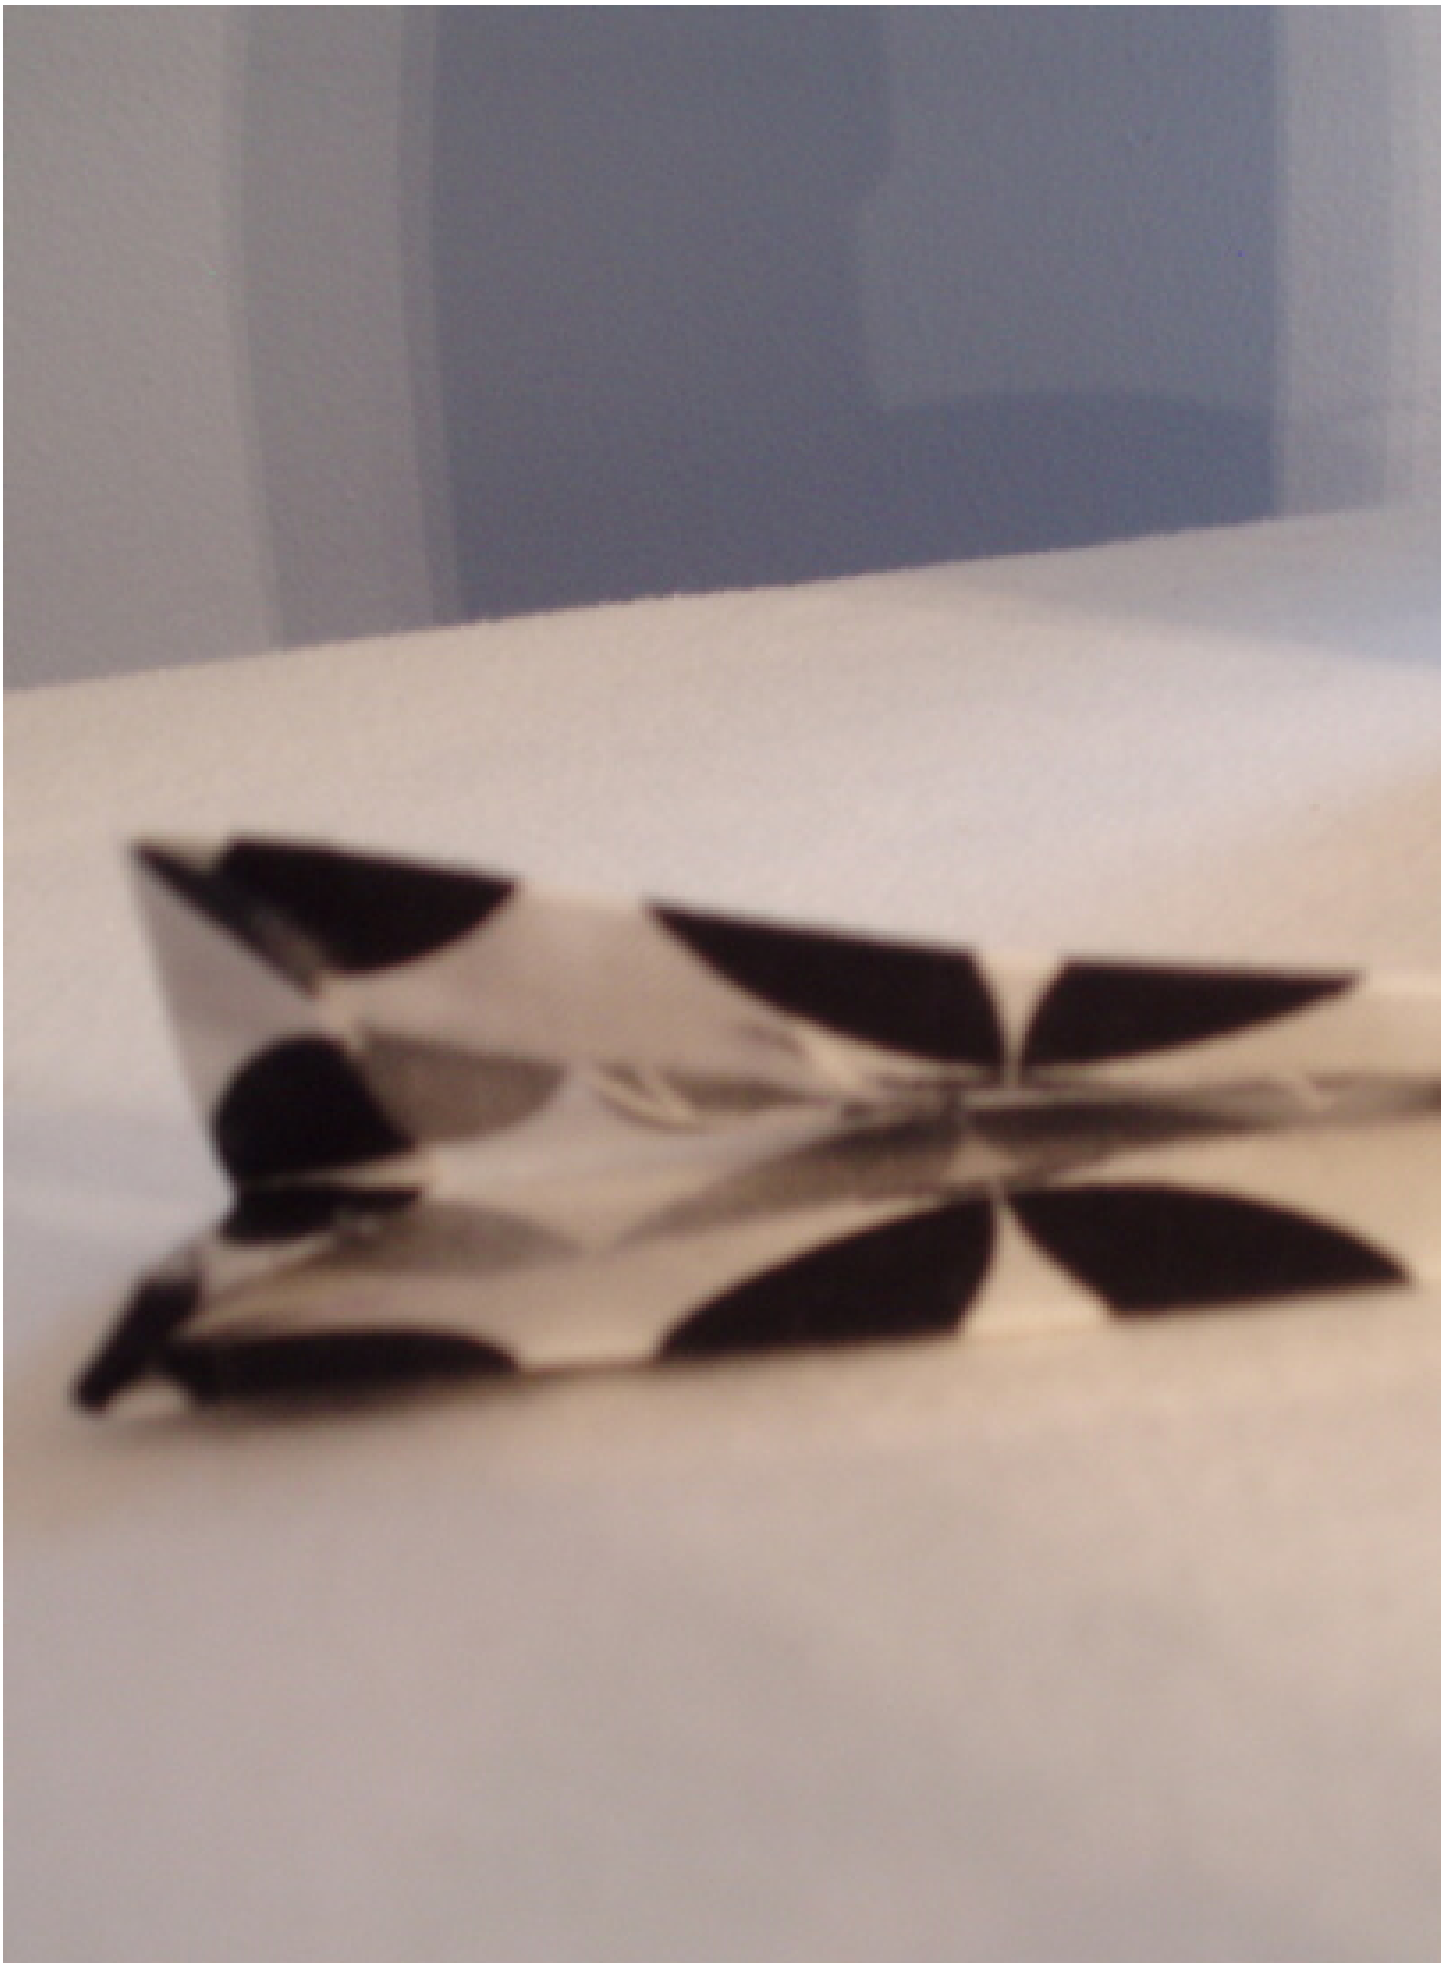
Step 7

Stuff with poly-fill.

Step 8

Sew the stuffed end closed.

Step 9

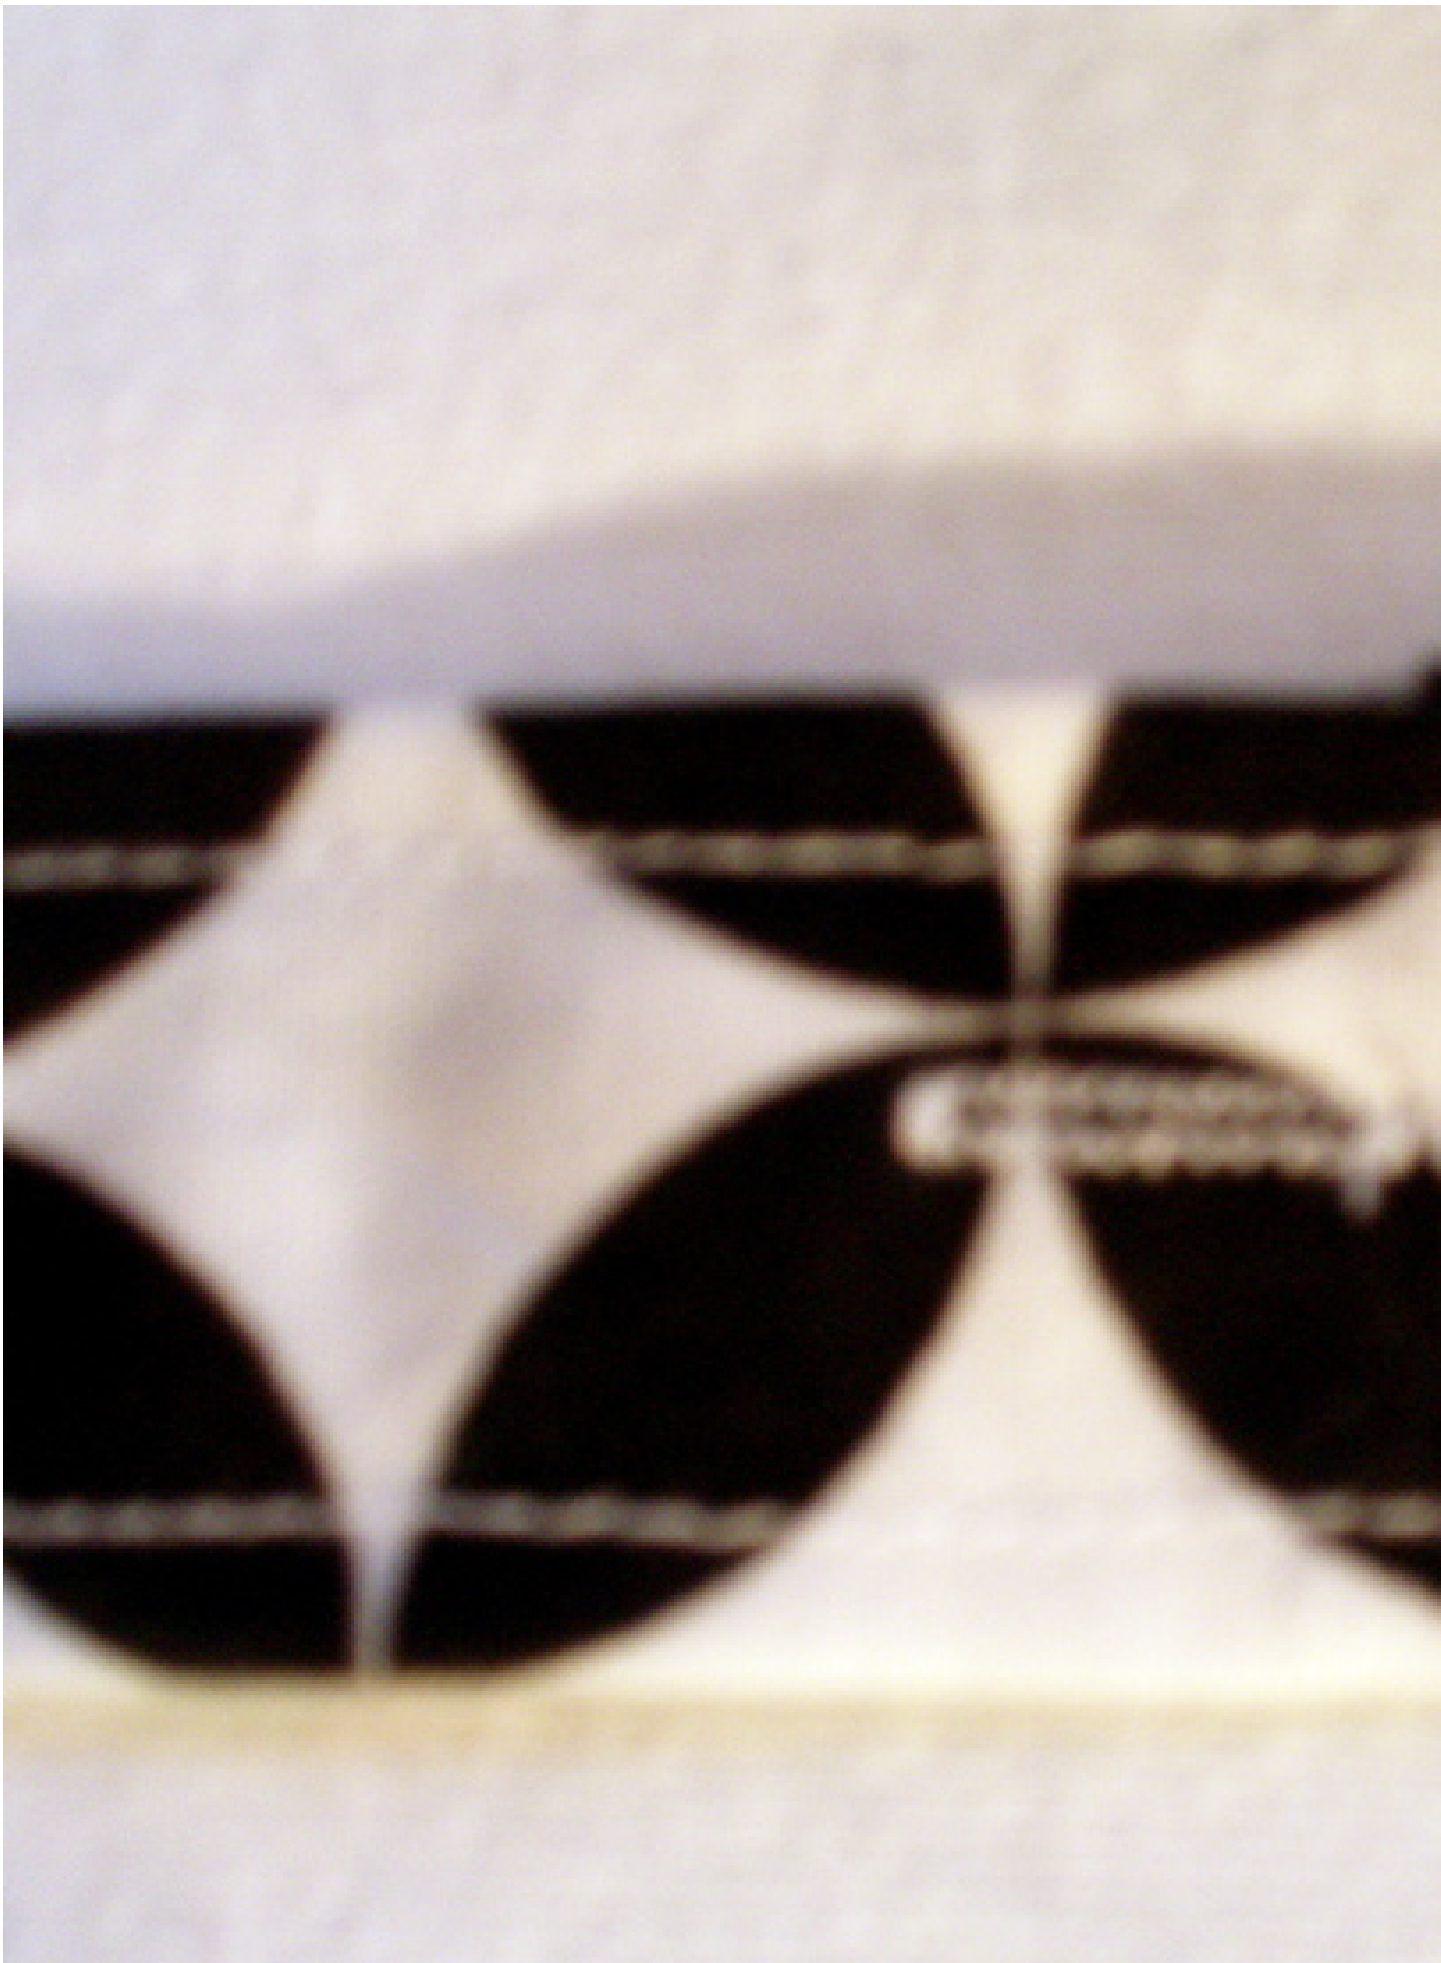


Iron allowances in about 3/8" in, including the end part.

Step 10

Topstitch narrowly.

Step 11



Make a buttonhole at the end.

Step 12

Sew on a button at the stuffed end.

Step 13

And you’re done! I made 20, because I’ll be using them for my cousins. I thought I’d put them in my hair just for fun, even if I don’t need it!

Step 14

tehe ;)
